That sounds like a good plan. Thanks for the follow up.

Hi Cynthia,

Rebecca and I had a conversation on best way to communicate. We agreed whoever Virginia calls would be who answers, unless we need to go to someone else has the answer. e.g. "do people need to re-submit questions or comments?" Then we will figure out who sends the answer. In this case I would suggest you would be the best one. We just need to be sure to Cc... each other.

Thanks
Mike

Rebecca,

Thanks. It does look as though the information I asked you to send has already been forwarded by Mike. We have an answer about previously submitted comments, too., though it differs a little from a voice message I got from Mark this morning. I'll check with the team and get back to you about that and how best to communicate with Virginia going forward.

It seems Mike got her the information on submitting comments. We still need to get her the information on whether or not there is a need to comment again.

What are your thoughts on how best to communicate with Virginia? It seems you both have a good working relationship with her already. I'm happy to have you both deal with her directly, or I'm happy to take that on. I don't want to ask her, however, to only call me because that would be awkward! But you decide if you'd rather forward her messages to me to answer for you. I'm at your service!

Rebecca

Mike – I tried to return your call but got the call center voicemail. Call me back any time before 4pm today. I should be at my desk except from 3-3:15 or so.

Hi, Rebecca.

This is a follow up to a voice message I just left for you. One of Jon Tester's staff members, Virginia Sloane, had a couple of questions that Mike Cirian forwarded to me regarding the 60-day public comment period for the Columbia Falls Aluminum Company Plant proposed listing on the NPL.

First of all, she would like the link for folks who want to provide a comment on line. In your response to her, you might want to mention that the documents regarding the proposal to list the Columbia Falls Aluminum Company Plant are also available at this site. The link is: <http://www.regulations.gov/#lsearchResults;rpp=25;po=0;s=EPA-HQ-SFUND-2015-0139;fp=true;ns=true>.

Secondly, she had asked if people who provided comments to EPA prior to the 60-day public comment period have to resubmit them to be considered. I don't have that information, yet, but have asked our site attorney to get back to me with an answer.

Please copy Mike Cirian, Rob Parker and me on your communication with her.

Thanks!
